

Are you a Denver Resident?

We want to hear from you!

Should there be an Office of Neighborhood Safety (ONS)? How should it be designed and work with residents?

How can the City of Denver improve community engagement, support neighborhood organizations, and increase access to information?

Take the survey to share your thoughts!
Survey: <https://tinyurl.com/DenverStudies>

Open 9/26 to 10/31

The survey is for two studies commissioned by the City of Denver & City Council

Office of Neighborhood Safety

What is the purpose of this study?

- How should an Office of neighborhood Safety (ONS) be structured and how it would best serve all of Denver's neighborhoods given the different needs of the people and places within the city?
- The study uses a broad definition of safety, including transportation/traffic, housing, environmental risks, health and wellness, issues of public health, crime, social harms, and other areas.

Who is conducting the study?

Sheila Huss, PhD, CU Denver, School of Public Affairs

Community Engagement & Information

What is the purpose of this study?

- How can city agencies increase resident knowledge of city government and develop community partnerships in policy making and programming?
- Should the ordinance for Registered Neighborhood Organizations be updated?
- Are there ways to improve constituent services and the delivery of information through 311, pocketgov.org, the City's website, and Council District offices?

Who is conducting the study?

Carrie Makarewicz, PhD, CU Denver, College of Architecture & Planning

For more information:

Website: <https://tinyurl.com/2DenverStudies> | email: 2DenverStudies@gmail.com | (303) 315-1008

Funded and Sponsored by:

Conducted by:

