Opening or repurposing an elementary school in a changing neighborhood?

Community engagement with Denver Public Schools for the Spring 2020 Urban Development course.

- DPS was debating whether to sell, lease-to-repurpose, or continuing moth-balling a former elementary school.
- To help with the public engagement and decision process, MURP students:
 - Helped to facilitate 2 large community meetings
 - Conducted and presented results of an online survey of community residents
 - Wrote critical essays on the public engagement process
 - Created several market studies for DPS and the neighborhood to use in discussions about future uses

Q14 - Why are you interested in the Rosedale Elementary School decision?
